

CRISIS APPARENT AS WILSON FAILS

President Consults With Congressional Leaders.

SEEKING WAY TO STOP PERIL

Writing of Legislative Bills Is Begun. Employees Leave Washington Carrying Strike Orders After Binding Leaders to Stand Pat.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Tentative plans for a joint session of the senate and house to hear President Wilson ask for legislation to prevent the threatened nationwide railroad strike were discussed by the president with Senator Kern, the Democratic leader, and it seemed virtually certain that a break between the railroads and their employees must follow final conferences at the White House.

Possibilities of legislation were talked over by the president with Senator Newlands, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, and Secretary Lane during the day, and the president made a quiet trip to the senate office building to find Senator Kern attending a meeting of the finance committee.

Belief Grows at Capitol.

The belief that negotiations between the railroad executives and representatives of the men would end without an agreement has been growing, and a quorum of the house has been summoned.

This feeling was strengthened when the members of the brotherhood committee of 640, tired of their long wait, departed for home after delegating their powers to effect a settlement or call a strike to a committee of twenty-four, instructed under no circumstances to agree to arbitration of the demand for an eight-hour day at the present rate of pay for ten hours.

Problem to Congress Then.

Whether the plans considered by President Wilson and his advisers at the capitol will be carried out depends upon developments, but it is understood that if all efforts fail to bring the employers and their men together the president will go before congress and ask them to deal with the situation even if that necessitates indefinite delay prolonging the present session. Unless the railroad heads recede from their demand for arbitration of the eight-hour day proposal, one brotherhood head said a strike affecting about 400,000 men will be called within the next ten days.

Representatives of both the railroads and the brotherhood will confer with the president again.

Arbitration Is Demanded.

The executives of the lines will present the plan to which they agreed finally. Its outstanding feature is a demand for arbitration of wages under the eight-hour day or any day.

When they have departed, the brotherhood heads acting under instructions received from the committee of 640 will go to the White House and apprise President Wilson that they cannot accept arbitration of this feature of their demands and that in general they stand on his proposal made a week ago to concede the eight-hour principle and arbitrate the other issues.

What will follow no one attempts to forecast accurately.

Delay May Be Asked.

There was a report, however, that the president might ask the men to postpone action for a period in order that he might seek legislation which would force and provide for a settlement without tying up the country's transportation system.

Secretary Lane and Senator Newlands worked until late at night framing bills for presentation to congress.

The measure given most serious consideration was one drawn along the lines of the Canadian act which provides for investigation of industrial disputes by a commission for one year and prevents strikes and lockouts during the period of investigation.

If it is finally decided to press such a measure, an effort will be made to put it into effect at once.

Other Measures Proposed.

Other legislation under consideration included the following measures: An eight-hour day law for railroad employees.

A bill increasing the membership of the interstate commerce commission from seven to nine members with authority to divide into groups.

A resolution stating it to be the sense of congress that if the railroads grant a basic eight-hour day they should be entitled to increased revenues compensatory with the increased operating expenses.

A bill already pending directing the

ENGLISH WORKERS UTTER BIG PROTEST

London, Aug. 28.—The most significant expression of popular feeling since the war began was given here, when, despite a torrential rain, the labor unions held a great parade in Hyde park, initiated by the powerful railroad men's union, to protest against outrageous increases in the cost of living.

Notable New York labor leaders were present, but the speech of the afternoon was made by Ben Tillett, who recently received the thanks of General Haig and Lord French.

"Of the British armies of 5,000,000 men," he said, "4,800,000 come from the working classes. The proportion of men from the shipping class who have entered the navy is ever greater. Yet while these men are risking their lives for the government it allows their dependents to suffer privation on account of the prices of food, which have risen 70 per cent through the rapacity of the food rings."

"The virility of the peace is suffering in consequence. This will have a tremendous effect after the war, when, with 2,000,000 cripples upon the hands of the nation all the available energy of the people will be required."

GRONNA FLAYS OLD GUARD

Denies Tariff Had Anything to Do With Overthrow of Cannon.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Senator Gronna of North Dakota vigorously replied to the criticism of Senator Gallinger, the minority leader in the senate, that progressive Republicans sowed the seeds of discontent over the Dingley tariff and chose former Speaker Cannon as the "Jonah" on whom to heap the burden of blame, and that they preached the false theory that the high cost of living was due to the Dingley tariff.

Senator Gronna declared the tariff had nothing to do with the overthrow of Cannon and that he was attacked only to end an era of autocratic domination of the house.

The clash occurred during debate on the emergency revenue bill.

ITALY DECLARES WAR ON GERMANY

Rome Sends Formal Notice Through Swiss Agency.

HOSTILITIES DATE FROM NOW

Long Drifting Towards Step—Nations Practically in Conflict With Presence of Emmanuel's Army in the Balkans.

Rome, Aug. 28.—Italy has declared war on Germany, it was announced officially here.

Berlin, Aug. 28.—The following official announcement was made here: "The Italian government has declared through the Swiss government that it considers itself from Aug. 27 at war with Germany."

Italy and Germany have been drifting steadily toward war. In fact, Italy's formal declaration amounts to little more than official recognition of a state of affairs which already existed. The declaration became inevitable when Italy recently sent troops to Saloniki to co-operate in the campaign of the entente allies on the Macedonian front, as Germany is directing the opposing forces and has troops on this battle line.

Italy's position in regard to Germany has been an anomalous one since Italy withdrew from the triple alliance May 23 of last year and declared war on Austria. Although by this act she arrayed herself against her former allies, Germany and Austria, she remained officially at peace with Germany until now.

Other indications of approaching war have been observed in recent weeks. It was reported unofficially that Germany had taken charge of the defense of Trieste. A more definite indication was the severance last month of the last tie between the nations.

BULGARS SPREAD OUT, TAKING NEW POSITIONS

London, Aug. 28.—Heavy fighting continues between the entente and the Teutonic allies in the Macedonian theater from the region of Lake Ochrida, eastward to Kavala on the Aegean, but with results belauded by diverging statements of Berlin and Paris.

Berlin reports that Bulgarian forces operating to the west of Lake Ochrida have captured Mallik in Albania and that along the Struma, King Ferdinand's men are approaching the mouth of the river.

Paris admits the Bulgars have taken all except one of the forts at Kavala on the Aegean, but says the newly acquired positions have come under the fire of British warships.

Paris says also that along the Struma French artillery is bombarding the enemy, while west of the Varder and near Lake Ostrovo, the Serbs have put down vigorous attacks by the Bulgars.

London reports the capture of 200 yards of a German trench north of Bazentin la Petit and a further gain northward of Ginchy. Berlin says that British attacks south of Thiepval, northwest of Pozieres and north of Bazentin le Petit were without success.

Paris records only the repulse of German attacks along the line held by the French.

The Russians, for some time inactive in the Riga region, again have started an offensive. However their efforts to cross the Dvina river south-east of Riga and also near Friedrichstadt failed, according to Berlin.

In the Carpathians, Petrograd chronicles a fresh advance at Kovarila mountain, near the Hungarian border. In the Caucasus region Petrograd reports a Russian success over the Turks along the Masladrasi river. Hard fighting is in progress near Diarbekr.

Infantry fighting on the Isonzo front is at a standstill, but the Austrians are heavily bombarding Italian positions along the river and at Vallone. In the Carnic Alps the Italians have taken several Austrian positions and on the Trentino front the Austrians are vigorously shelling the Italians.

Dainty Snails.

Snails are most dainty feeders and strict vegetarians, as many gardeners know to their cost. Apparently three centuries ago snails were more popular in England than they are now. The fastidious author of "The Fancie Queen" gives a recipe for their preparation:

With our sharp weapons we shal thee
fray
And take the castill that thou lvest in;
We shal thee fray out of thy foute skin,
And in a dish, with onions and peper,
We shal thee dress with strong vynesars.

HUBERT SUNDAY

Hubert, Minn., August 28—Burglars or yeggs broke into the store and postoffice of Tony Bohike at Hubert and some time Sunday night blew open the safe. The door was torn off and blackened woodwork and shredded private papers, testified to some of the damage done.

Mr. Bohike had no money in the safe. The loss is chiefly the private papers which the explosion riddled and ripped to pieces. The front door was entered with a key and the rear door, which was locked with a big bar, was open when Mr. Bohike entered his store this morning. In the rubbish left by the yeggs was an old ax. Sheriff and police at Brainerd have been notified.

Hubert is a summer resort 12 miles north of Brainerd and the Bohike store is located near the Minnesota & International railway depot. Mr. Bohike's home is a quarter of a mile from the store. No one heard any explosion.

ADVANCE PRICE OF
YOUR FAVORITE BOOK

Will Have to Pay From 10 to 25
Cents More For Current Publications.

New York.—Book lovers will have to pay from 10 to 25 cents more for current publications. Publishers and retailers already have increased the price. Books formerly selling from 50 cents to $1 now are rated at 10 cents higher. Those in the past priced from $1 to $2 are sold at an increase of 25 cents each.

The publishers claim that there has been an increase in the price of paper, leather, cloth and ink amounting to from 50 to 100 per cent during the past twelve months, and it is impossible to produce books at old prices.

The consensus of opinion among them is that under the present serious conditions a further increase of from 10 to 20 per cent may be necessary.
They say their only hope is in the ending of the European war. It is claimed there is also a shortage of chemicals which must be obtained from Europe for the manufacture of their particular grade of paper. The surplus supply of this class of material is exhausted and the publishers will have to depend upon a new supply.

TROOPS MAKE ADOBE HUTS.

With Dog Tents, United States Soldiers
Now Have Combination Houses.

San Antonio, Tex.—Combination adobe and dog tent huts now shelter a large proportion of the American troops in Mexico, according to General Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of staff of the United States army, who returned here recently from a trip to General Persh-ing's headquarters.

General Bliss said that on finding themselves due to stay in Mexico for some time thousands of soldiers constructed adobe walls about three feet high and U shaped. On top they pitched their dog tents, previously their only shelter, thus gaining a roomier and more comfortable lodging. Beds have been supplied by stuffing sacks with grass.

Genius and Appetite.

Sir Francis Galton held that a good appetite is one of the attributes of genius. "Most notabilities have been great eaters and excellent digesters on the same principle that the furnace which can raise more steam than is usual for one of its size must burn more freely and well than is common." Scott was of the same opinion.
In a letter to Canning respecting an article promised to the Quarterly Review he advises him to break the neck of it after a hearty meal, "preferably of boiled chicken." And he practiced what he preached, for, like Tennyson, Dickens, Thackeray and many other nineteenth century authors, Scott was an excellent trencherman.—London Opinion.

The Romans Dressed For Dinner.

A sartorial authority says that the custom of dressing for dinner began with the Romans. It was a simpler procedure than at present. A loose robe of fine material was donned for the evening meal, preferably at home, but in cases where guests came from a distance to the home of the host he kept a supply of dinner clothes on hand for the use of his guests who came unprovided.

Lawyers' Way.

"I can't understand why those two lawyers call it a deed of trust."

"Why not?"
"From the care with which they are drawing it up it is quite evident that they don't trust each other."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

"Your husband is worse? Did you forget the medicine?"
"So as not to forget it I gave him
the whole bottle at once."—Browning's Magazine.

FLUNG UP FROM THE SEA.

Birth of the Bogoslof Group of the Aleutian Islands.

The first of the Bogoslof group of the Aleutian Islands was born in the year 1796.

There was a great convulsion in the Bering sea about twenty-five miles north of Unalaska, and an island appeared above the surface of the stormy waters. This islet, which rose to a height of nearly 3,000 feet above sea level, was christened Bogoslof by the Russians, who then owned Alaska. It remained solitary and alone until 1882, when another volcanic eruption in the sea was followed by the birth of another island near the first.

For two years the new island was the scene of an active eruption. Then it cooled gradually and, like the first islet, became the home of seals and sea lions and the breeding grounds for sea birds.
The third of the Bogoslof group was born in 1906. The "baby" was smaller than its elder sister, being about a third of a mile in diameter and with an altitude of some 600 feet, but the following year another convulsion of nature resulted in nearly doubling its area.

Since then several other islands have been born in various parts of the Aleutian chain.—Chicago Journal.

An Author's Odd Aversion.

The "stole" meal had attractions for Edward Fitzgerald, who, among his other peculiarities, hated to see people enjoying their food. On one occasion, after a man had finished a glass of wine in his company and gone out of the room, Fitzgerald remarked with disgust: "Did you notice how he took up his glass? I am sure he likes it.
Bah!" Fitzgerald himself, according to his biographer, A. C. Benson, "lived practically on bread and fruit, mostly apples and pears, even a turnip, with sometimes cheese or butter and milk puddings. But he was not a bigoted vegetarian. To avoid an appearance of singularity he would eat meat at other houses and provided it in plenty for his guests. But the only social meal he cared to join in was "tea, pure and simple, with bread and butter."

The Cooling of the Worlds.

All bodies in space are gradually approaching frigidity. When a redhot cannon ball is taken out of a furnace and suspended in the air it parts with its heat and keeps on parting with it until it finally reaches the temperature surrounding it. And what happens to the cannon ball is happening to the sun. The sun is steadily losing its heat and contracting, and the same is true of the planets and of every other body in space. Just as the arctic circle is ever encroaching upon the temperate and equatorial regions, so the final chill is steadily advancing upon the warmth everywhere.—New York American.

Do Not Meddle With Your Ears.

Whatever plausible reasons laymen may have for treating some diseases, they should not meddle with the ear.
It is a very sensitive and delicate organ, peculiarly liable to serious injury through the manipulations of men and women ignorant of its anatomy, functions and pathology. Judicious treatment is most important, but it is better to let ear troubles alone than to seek the aid of Aunt Samantha or take the advice of some officious neighbor.

ADVANCE PRICE OF

Will Have to Pay From 10 to 25 Cents More For Current Publications.

New York.—Book lovers will have to pay from 10 to 25 cents more for current publications. Publishers and retailers already have increased the price. Books formerly selling from 50 cents to $1 now are rated at 10 cents higher. Those in the past priced from $1 to $2 are sold at an increase of 25 cents each.

The publishers claim that there has been an increase in the price of paper, leather, cloth and ink amounting to from 50 to 100 per cent during the past twelve months, and it is impossible to produce books at old prices.

The consensus of opinion among them is that under the present serious conditions a further increase of from 10 to 20 per cent may be necessary. They say their only hope is in the ending of the European war. It is claimed there is also a shortage of chemicals which must be obtained from Europe for the manufacture of their particular grade of paper. The surplus supply of this class of material is exhausted and the publishers will have to depend upon a new supply.

With Dog Tents, United States Soldiers Now Have Combination Houses.

San Antonio, Tex.—Combination adobe and dog tent huts now shelter a large proportion of the American troops in Mexico, according to General Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of staff of the United States army, who returned here recently from a trip to General Pershing's headquarters.

General Bliss said that on finding themselves due to stay in Mexico for some time thousands of soldiers constructed adobe walls about three feet high and U shaped. On top they pitched their dog tents, previously their only shelter, thus gaining a roomier and more comfortable lodging. Beds have been supplied by stuffing sacks with grass.

Genius and Appetite.

Sir Francis Galton held that a good appetite is one of the attributes of genius. "Most notabilities have been great eaters and excellent digesters on the same principle that the furnace which can raise more steam than is usual for one of its size must burn more freely and well than is common," Scott was of the same opinion. In a letter to Canning respecting an article promised to the Quarterly Review he advises him to break the neck of it after a hearty meal, "preferably of boiled chicken." And he preached what he preached, for, like Tennyson, Dickens, Thackeray and many other nineteenth century authors, Scott was an excellent trencherman.—London Opinion.

The Romans Dressed For Dinner.

A sartorial authority says that the custom of dressing for dinner began with the Romans. It was a simpler procedure than at present. A loose robe of fine material was donned for the evening meal, preferably at home, but in cases where guests came from a distance to the home of the host he kept a supply of dinner clothes on hand for the use of his guests who came unprovided.

"Why not?"
"From the care with which they are drawing it up it is quite evident that they don't trust each other."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

"So as not to forget it I gave him the whole bottle at once."—Browning's Magazine.

FLUNG UP FROM THE SEA.

Birth of the Bogoslof Group of the Aleutian Islands.

The first of the Bogoslof group of the Aleutian Islands was born in the year 1796.

There was a great convulsion in the Bering sea about twenty-five miles north of Unalaska, and an island appeared above the surface of the stormy waters. This islet, which rose to a height of nearly 3,000 feet above sea level, was christened Bogoslof by the Russians, who then owned Alaska. It remained solitary and alone until 1882, when another volcanic eruption in the sea was followed by the birth of another island near the first.

For two years the new island was the scene of an active eruption. Then it cooled gradually and, like the first islet, became the home of seals and sea lions and the breeding grounds for sea birds.

The third of the Bogoslof group was born in 1905. The "baby" was smaller than its elder sister, being about a third of a mile in diameter and with an altitude of some 600 feet, but the following year another convulsion of nature resulted in nearly doubling its area.

Since then several other islands have been born in various parts of the Aleutian chain.—Chicago Journal.

An Author's Odd Aversion.

The "stole" meal had attractions for Edward Fitzgerald, who, among his other peculiarities, hated to see people enjoying their food. On one occasion, after a man had finished a glass of wine in his company and gone out of the room, Fitzgerald remarked with disgust: "Did you notice how he took up his glass? I am sure he likes it. Bah!" Fitzgerald himself, according to his biographer, A. C. Benson, "lived practically on bread and fruit, mostly apples and pears, even a turnip, with sometimes cheese or butter and milk puddings. But he was not a bigoted vegetarian. To avoid an appearance of singularity he would eat meat at other houses and provided it in plenty for his guests. But the only social meal he cared to join in was "tea, pure and simple, with bread and butter."

The Cooling of the World.

All bodies in space are gradually approaching frigidity. When a red-hot cannon ball is taken out of a furnace and suspended in the air it parts with its heat and keeps on parting with it until it finally reaches the temperature surrounding it. And what happens to the cannon ball is happening to the sun. The sun is steadily losing its heat and contracting, and the same is true of the planets and of every other body in space. Just as the arctic circle is ever encroaching upon the temperate and equatorial regions, so the final chill is steadily advancing upon the warmth everywhere.—New York American.

Do Not Meddle With Your Ears.

Whatever plausible reasons laymen may have for treating some diseases, they should not meddle with the ear. It is a very sensitive and delicate organ, peculiarly liable to serious injury through the manipulations of men and women ignorant of its anatomy, functions and pathology. Judicious treatment is most important, but it is better to let ear troubles alone than to seek the aid of Aunt Samantha or take the advice of some officious neighbor.—Volta Review.

PROMINENT TEACHER DEAD

Miss Edna Baker, Daughter of Mrs. Ella V. Baker, Died Early This Morning at Her Home

Miss Edna Baker, daughter of Mrs. Ella V. Baker, died early this morning at her home, 311 North Sixth street. She had not been in very good health for a year. Death came suddenly and was caused by a ruptured tumor. Dreading an operation she had put it off until too late.

She leaves a mother, five sisters, Hazel, Zada, Dorothy, Vivian and Letha, and one brother Howard. She was born in Brainerd and attended school here, graduating from the Brainerd high school in 1910. She taught in the Lincoln school two years and had also taught in the Whittier.

Her aunt is Mrs. C. E. Peabody and a cousin is Mrs. W. A. Spencer. No funeral announcement will be made until all relatives are communicated with.

DOUBLE WEDDING

Miss Julia Sylvester, Brainerd Girl, Married at Same Time Her Friend is Wedded

Cupid in the person of Judge E. U. Wade made two couples happy at once when he performed a double ceremony in his chambers at Moorhead.

The principals were Terrell Peterson and Freda Freerksen, Vincent J. Fleming and Julia Sylvester, the latter from Brainerd.

Both young men have grown up in Greenwood, Minn., played together as children and have shared their courtship secrets more or less. They had decided to get married on the same day and neither couple wanted to be last. So the double ceremony resulted at 4 o'clock Saturday, August 19.

The brides were dressed the same, in blue traveling suits and picture hats to match, carrying American beauties. The young couples received many beautiful presents among them a $100 check from the Fargo Ice Cream & Dairy Co., where the young men are employed.

After a short honeymoon to the lakes at Detroit, the happy couples will be at home at 305 Fourth Avenue North, Fargo, N. D.

GOOD FORM IN TENNIS.

Don't Copy a Bad Style Because Some Star Player Uses It.

Good form in tennis is hard to describe. It is not necessarily the ability to win matches, nor is it always the most graceful way of hitting the ball. It is rather the method of playing those strokes that have been shown by long experience to produce the best results with the majority of players.

One too often hears an ambitious young player declare that any stroke that wins is good enough for him. Because McLoughlin won international matches in spite of using a cramped backhand swing they are willing to copy his style in the hope of equaling his skill.

But success does not justify bad form. What a McLoughlin or a Brooks might do with a bad style of play is not always the best for others to attempt. Ten would fall with such methods where one would succeed, while with good form ten would succeed while one would fail.

A young player with a generous future before him might much better select as a model of good form strokes such as Johnston uses or those shown by Larned. With such a model any healthy, active boy should be able to play tennis well after steady practice.

The game does not require height or weight or any unusual physical qualification.—J. Parnly Paret in St. Nicholas.

DIED IN CANADA

Wife of Dr. Bottomley, of Dauphin, Canada, was Sister of Mrs. W. H. Wood, of Brainerd

(From Dauphin, Canada Paper)

The wife of Dr. Bottomley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Beardsley of Roosevelt, Minn., and formerly of Ellsworth, Wis., departed this life on Monday morning, August 21st at the age of 31 in full communion with the Anglican church. Her demise was a great shock not to her immediate family and friends alone, but to the whole community, where she wrought herself into the hearts of all by her sweet gentle manner and her helpfulness to the town and district.

She was a member of the Ladies' Hospital Aid, holding the office of treasurer for three consecutive years. She also belonged to the Daughters of the Empire, and the Red Cross. She held the office of school trustee, the first lady to be elected to that position in our town, a testimony to her abilities and the esteem in which she was held.

In St. Paul's Anglican church she also did what she could, being a member of the Woman's Auxiliary, and also for a time teacher in the Sunday school. But where she excelled above all was in her home, where her queenly virtues as wife and mother were so beautifully in evidence.

A husband and two sons are left to mourn her loss, besides her parents, two sisters and two brothers. The sisters are Mrs. Frank Shulte of Roosevelt, Minn., and Mrs. Walter Wood of Brainerd, Minn., and the brothers Messrs. Daniel and John Beardsley, both of Roosevelt, Minn.

The funeral services took place from the Anglican church at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday afternoon.

The church was filled with a large number of friends, and the numerous wreaths which covered the front of the altar and the coffin bore silent but eloquent testimony to the deceased.

The Rev. Dr. de Mattos conducted an impressive service and spoke in a few well chosen words of the life and works of the late Mrs. Bottomley. Among the chief mourners were the following: Dr. Bottomley, husband of the deceased; Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Beardsley, Roosevelt, U. S. A., parents; T. Bottomley, daughter; Mrs. H. S. Merrell, aunt; Miss Lena Merrell, Mr. Clarence Merrell, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Voight, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Smith, Mr. H. V. Smith, Mrs. H. Brown, Miss Tanner, Mrs. F. J. McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McLaughlin, and Miss Mona McLaughlin, Mrs. Chappel, of Beamsville, Ont. Unfortunately Mrs. Wood, (a sister of the deceased), and her husband arrived too late to be present at the service, having missed connections in Winnipeg. The choir and organist assisted very sympathetically in the service.

The heartfelt sympathy of the town and community goes out to Dr. Bottomley and his family in their sad bereavement.

At the Best Tonight

"Battle of Hearts," starring the talented actor William Farnum, is the first filmed story of sea life presented by William Fox, the maker of vital feature films. In this picture, just released, Mr. Farnum acts the part of a noble sailor character, brave and capable of great self-sacrifice. He is in love with a sea captain's daughter, a part taken by Elda Furry, his new leading woman, but through the plots of the villain of the story the girl does not realize the capacity of his love until the end of the play.

Incidental to the story, which was enacted on Catalina Island, off the California coast, there is a shipwreck in which both Mr. Farnum and Miss Furry figure. The excitement as produced on those viewing the picture is no less than that of the actors, who were in real personal danger during the making of this part. The heroine's other lover becomes a smuggler of the coast, and the plot includes some thrilling adventures of the male star with the sea-coast outlaws on the rocky cliffs of Catalina.

The scenes of the little fishing village are most accurately portrayed. The village was built for the purpose by Director Oscar C. Apfel, and the fishermen and fishermen are shown true to type. The picture play has a happy ending, the wronged fisherman finally winning his first love and the villain being properly exiled from their lives.

At the Empress

In "Gloria's Romance" the great Rupert Hughes' motion picture novel, in which Billie Burke is appearing at the Empress theatre on Friday Sept. 1st, Miss Burke will be seen in a $15,000 Russian sable coat, a $12,000 ermine coat, a blue and gold and metal embroidered evening coat trimmed with silver fox, valued at $2,500, and a dinner gown trimmed with lace that was priced at $150 a yard. The gowns were all designed by Henri Bendel, Lucille and Balcom and are sure to attract the particular attention of all who keep in touch with the latest fashions.

Fashionable Palm Beach, Florida, and aristocratic Riverside Drive, New York City, figure prominently in "Gloria's Romance," the big motion picture novel that starts on Friday at the Empress theatre. Billie Burke, the famous international stage favorite, has the leading role in this new motion picture, and it is expected she will score a triumph even greater as a film actress than she did when appearing on the speaking stage. Manager Workman of the Brainerd Theatre & Amusement Co., has been trying for two months to secure "Gloria's Romance" for his patrons, so tremendous is the demand for the picture among theatre managers.

In the first two chapters of the story Miss Burke will appear in a Lucille frock, a suit of boy's clothes, some dainty pajamas, a $275 negligee, the garb of a Seminole Indian squaw, and another Lucille gown. During the course of the production she will wear more than $40,000 worth of Henri Bendel, Lucille and Balcom frocks, besides a coat of Russian sable valued at $15,000, a blue and gold and metal embroidered evening coat trimmed with silver fox fur, and a dinner gown trimmed with lace that was priced at $150 per yard.

THE WAYS OF FATE

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Miss Dorothy Campbell knew that it had rained and frozen during the night. She opened the door and stepped out to find that the top stone step was still a glare. Miss Dorothy was falling and screaming when a male pedestrian who happened to be passing at that moment, rushed part way up the steps and received her in his arms. The shock landed both of them on the walk, but on their feet and they suffered no injury.

"You will excuse me, miss," said the man as he raised his hat.

"Not only excuse, but thank you," was the reply.

"And you were going out without rubbers?" he queried.

"I never wear them."

"You run a terrible risk such a day as today."

"Oh, I am pretty surefooted," she laughed as she noticed that he had provided himself with a pair. "Thanks again."

As Miss Dorothy was moving away she noticed that her rescuer was a man of perhaps twenty-five, with a professional look about him. He had dark hair and eyes and a smile that was good nature itself. He was still standing, and she realized that he would watch her until she had crossed the street, and, though there was ice under her feet, she stepped out boldly. She saw two or three pedestrians slipping and falling, but she would take no warning. By sheer good luck she reached the destination she had set out for, and in time she started to make her way home. She had made half the distance when a rough neck of a man in passing her seemed to give her his elbow with intent to make her fall, and fall she did. But Miss Dorothy didn't go right down amid the slush. A pair of strong arms prevented her, and as she was lifted on her feet again she turned to find the man who had saved her before.

"Why—you you?"
"Yes," he smiled. "I was not following you to act the part of a guardian, but I had to come back this way and had only just seen you when the big loafer brought about the collision. I was near enough to save you from a fall."

"And I owe you my thanks again," she said.

It was about the middle of the next May, and there were early roses instead of slush and ice that Miss Dorothy Campbell arrived at a little country railroad station twenty miles out of the big city. She had come down to pay her sister a brief visit and they were to meet her at the station with an auto. The auto had not arrived yet, and the girl was standing on the platform, waiting.

"Look out! Look out!" shouted a dozen voices in chorus, and then there was a mad scramble among those on the platform. One of the freight cars being pushed along by the locomotive had partly left the rail and broken loose from the train, and it would be almost sure to bump into the platform.

Miss Dorothy was about the only one in the crowd who did not see the danger. Most of them had got away, and she was still standing and wondering, when an arm went around her waist and she was lifted up and half carried and half dragged to the far end of the platform and thence half way across a street. She turned to find "that man." He lifted his hat and calmly explained:

"I have come down here to visit my brother, who is to meet me here. I was on the car with you, but you did not see me. I am glad to have been of service to you. Three or four people have been hurt and will require the aid of a surgeon. You, doubtless, have friends coming to meet you. Will you excuse me while I go and see what I can do for those who have been in-

MRS. W. K. VANDERBILT.

American Woman Visits the Trenches at Verdun.

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt of New York has just returned to Paris from the trenches at the front, and she describes her visit as the "crowning experience" of her life.

Mrs. Vanderbilt is called "the guardian angel of the American ambulance field service," which she has generously aided financially.

She visited Verdun, where she dined with the American ambulance drivers at their mess. She was the first American woman to enter the city since the attack began. The only women there were nurses.

FAMILY DINNERS.

In England They Flourish Mainly at Weddings and Funerals.

Family dinners are rare in England. They flourish only at weddings and at funerals, especially at funerals, for mankind collected enjoys woe. But other occasions—birthdays and Christmas—are shunned. Christmas especially, in spite of Dickens and Mr. Chesterton, is not what it was, for its quondam victims, having fewer children and being less bound to their aunts' apron strings, go away to the seaside or stay at home and hide.

That is a general change, and many modern factors, such as travel, intercourse with strangers, emigration, have shown the family that there are other places than home, until some of them have begun to think that "east or west, home's worst."

There is a frigidly among the relations in the home, a disinclination to call one's mother-in-law "mother." Indeed, relations-in-law are no longer relatives; the two families do not immediately after the wedding call one another Kitty or Tom. The acquired family is merely a subfamily, and often the grouping resembles that of the Maitagues and the Capulets, if Romeo and Juliet had married. Mrs. Herbert said charmingly in "Garden Oats," "Our in-laws are our strained relations."—W. L. George in Harper's Magazine.

SIRIUS AND THE DOG DAYS.

Time Has Worn Away the Link That Bound Them Together.

The dog days, when excessive heat is supposed to prevail, begin July 3, according to the ancient reckoning, and continue to Aug. 11. All sorts of traditions and superstitions are connected with this period, and various dates are also given.

In some sections the dog days are said to begin on July 24 and to end on Aug. 24, while still others attribute the malevolent influence of the dog star upon the earth to the period from Aug. 4 to Sept. 4, in accordance with the ancient Egyptian reckoning.

As a matter of fact, the rising of the dog star, Canis Majoris or Sirius, has nothing to do with the affair at all. The rising of that star has been so accelerated by the procession of the equinoxes during the passage of more than 2,000 years that the corresponding conditions for the ancient dog days no longer exist.

In ancient times in the latitudes of the Mediterranean the period of greatest heat nearly corresponded with that time in which the dog star rose at the same time with the sun. To this conjunction all antiquity and all the later followers of judicial astrology attributed a malignant influence.

Among the modern notions regarding the dog days is the absurd belief that it is during this period that dogs are most likely to go mad.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Denounce Bulgarian Occupation of Hellespont Territory.

Saloniki, Aug. 28.—A large popular meeting was held here to protest against the occupation of Greek territory by Bulgarians.

It was followed by a demonstration of Venizelos and the singing of the national hymn. The crowd then marched to the headquarters of General Sarrahl, entente commander, and sang the "Marseillaise."

A formal protest against the Bulgarian occupation was drawn and left at the prefect of police.

Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind, is caused by auto-intoxication—which means self poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood, through the lymph ducts, excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetaminophen or the bromides which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drunk before breakfast for awhile, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar, and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphate hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

Results are quick and it is claimed that those who continue to flush out the stomach, liver and bowels every morning never have any headache or know a miserable moment.

He is in love with a sea captain's daughter, a part taken by Eida Furry, his new leading woman, but through the plots of the villain of the story the girl does not realize the capacity of his love until the end of the play.

Incidental to the story, which was enacted on Catalina Island, off the California coast, there is a shipwreck in which both Mr. Farnum and Miss Furry figure. The excitement as produced on those viewing the picture is no less than that of the actors, who were in real personal danger during the making of this part. The heroine's other lover becomes a smuggler of the coast, and the plot includes some thrilling adventures of the male star with the seacoast outlaws on the rocky cliffs of Catalina.

The scenes of the little fishing village are most accurately portrayed. The village was built for the purpose by Director Oscar C. Apfel, and the fishermen and fisherwomen are shown true to type. The picture play has a happy ending, the wronged fisherman finally winning his first love and the villain being properly exiled from their lives.

At the Empress

In "Gloria's Romance" the great Rupert Hughes' motion picture novel, in which Billie Burke is appearing at the Empress theatre on Friday Sept. 1st, Miss Burke will be seen in a $15,000 Russian sable coat, a $12,000 ermine coat, a blue and gold and metal embroidered evening coat trimmed with silver fox, valued at $2,500, and a dinner gown trimmed with lace that was priced at $150 a yard. The gowns were all designed by Henri Bendel, Lucile and Balcom and are sure to attract the particular attention of all who keep in touch with the latest fashions.

Fashionable Palm Beach, Florida, and aristocratic Riverside Drive, New York City, figure prominently in "Gloria's Romance," the big motion picture novel that starts on Friday at the Empress theatre. Billie Burke, the famous international stage favorite, has the leading role in this new motion picture, and it is expected she will score a triumph even greater as a film actress than she did when appearing on the speaking stage. Manager Workman of the Brainerd Theatre & Amusement Co., has been trying for two months to secure "Gloria's Romance" for his patrons, so tremendous is the demand for the picture among theatre managers.

In the first two chapters of the story Miss Burke will appear in a Lucile frock, a suit of boy's clothes, some dainty pajamas, a $275 negligee, the garb of a Seminole Indian squaw, and another Lucile gown. During the course of the production she will wear more than $40,000 worth of Henri Bendel, Lucile and Balcom frocks, besides a coat of Russian sable valued at $15,000, a blue and gold and metal embroidered evening coat trimmed with silver fox fur, and a dinner gown trimmed with lace that was priced at $150 per yard.

THE WAYS OF FATE

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Miss Dorothy Campbell knew that it had rained and frozen during the night. She opened the door and stepped out to find that the top stone step was still a glare. Miss Dorothy was falling and screaming when a male pedestrian who happened to be passing at that moment, rushed part way up the steps and received her in his arms. The shock landed both of them on the walk, but on their feet and they suffered no injury.

"You will excuse me, miss," said the man as he raised his hat.

"Not only excuse, but thank you," was the reply.

"And you were going out without rubbers?" he queried.

"I never wear them."

"You run a terrible risk such a day as today."

"Oh, I am pretty surefooted," she laughed as she noticed that he had provided himself with a pair. "Thanks again."

As Miss Dorothy was moving away she noticed that her rescuer was a man of perhaps twenty-five, with a professional look about him. He had dark hair and eyes and a smile that was good nature itself. He was still standing, and she realized that he would watch her until she had crossed the street, and though there was ice under her feet, she stepped out boldly. She saw two or three pedestrians slipping and falling, but she would take no warning. By sheer good luck she reached the destination she had set out for, and in time she started to make her way home. She had made half the distance when a rough neck of a man in passing her seemed to give her his elbow with intent to make her fall, and fall she did. But Miss Dorothy didn't go right down amid the slush. A pair of strong arms prevented her, and as she was lifted on her feet again she turned to find the man who had saved her before.

"Why—you?"

"Yes," he smiled. "I was not following you to act the part of a guardian, but I had to come back this way and had only just seen you when the big loafer brought about the collision. I was near enough to save you from a fall."

"And I owe you my thanks again," she said.

It was about the middle of the next May, and there were early roses instead of slush and ice that Miss Dorothy Campbell arrived at a little country railroad station twenty miles out of the big city. She had come down to pay her sister a brief visit and they were to meet her at the station with an auto. The auto had not arrived yet, and the girl was standing on the platform, waiting.

"Look out! Look out!" shouted a dozen voices in chorus, and then there was a mad scramble among those on the platform. One of the freight cars being pushed along by the locomotive had partly left the rail and broken loose from the train, and it would be almost sure to bump into the platform.

Miss Dorothy was about the only one in the crowd who did not see the danger. Most of them had got away, and she was still standing and wondering, when an arm went around her waist and she was lifted up and half carried and half dragged to the far end of the platform and thence half way across a street. She turned to find "that man." He lifted his hat and calmly explained:

"I have come down here to visit my brother, who is to meet me here. I was on the car with you, but you did not see me. I am glad to have been of service to you. Three or four people have been hurt and will require the aid of a surgeon. You, doubtless, have friends coming to meet you. Will you excuse me while I go and see what I can do for those who have been in-

Just then her sister came up in the auto and called to her. So she and the young man had met once more, though she had never expected to see him again.

After she recovered her composure and had been asked a dozen times over for the particulars of the incident, she related her whole story from the beginning.

A week passed away. If Dr. Roy Goodsend took any measures to discover where the young lady was stopping, no one but his brother knew. If Miss Dorothy Campbell was rather anxious to find where the doctor was located she kept it to herself, but Fate solved the problem. In walking about her sister's gardens Miss Dorothy stepped in a hole and fell forward and broke an arm. A telephone call was sent out over the country neighborhood for a doctor—and a doctor that could come with a rush. Half an hour later Dr. Roy Goodsend appeared at the house, and in less than an hour the broken bone was set and splinted and bandaged, and about all he said of any consequence before he took his departure was:

"I was sorry I was not at hand to catch you as you fell. Really, Miss Campbell, you seem to need the care of a guardian."

Before the broken bone had completely knitted Dr. Roy Goodsend had something to say. He sat amidst the roses climbing over the veranda. He hadn't a wife and two or three children, but wanted them, and Miss Dorothy was sensible enough to let him rescue her for the fourth time.

The Elevator Boy Protests.

Did you ever stop to consider the feelings of an elevator boy in an office building? "How'd you like to spend your days in a cage, goin' up, comin' down, same bad air, same old shafts slippin' by, never nothin' to see? How'd you like it on a sunny day when you were dyin' to play baseball?" says the elevator boy.

"I never thought about it at all," the passenger answered.

"Well, I have. I thought about it most of the time for four years. Even the fellows in Sing Sing gets out sometimes, but we don't. When I get to feelin' I can't stand it, I think of block after block of office buildings in this town, every one of 'em with fifteen or twenty cages, and a fellow like me in every one of 'em, spendin' his life goin' up, comin' down, goin' up, comin' down—and outside the world goin' on."—American Magazine.

Made a Mess of It.

During a social evening a woman sang for the guests. One of the guests turned to a meek looking little man sitting at his side and said: "How awful! Who can she be?"

"That," replied the man addressed, "is my wife."

"Oh, I beg your pardon!" stammered the other. "She's really a—I know she'd sing beautifully if she made a better selection of her music. Who do you suppose wrote that song?"

"I am the author of that song," replied the meek looking little man.—Argonaut.

A Strong Will.

"Rastus," said the judge, "you say that you entered the henhouse and then, deciding to resist temptation, left it. Is that right?"

"Dat's about it, judge."

"Well, how about the two hens that were missing?"

"Ah tells you, judge. Ah took dem. Ah reckoned dat Ah was 'titled to dat many for leavin' the rest."—New York Times.

A Good Thing For Children

Foley's Honey and Tar is a particularly good cold, cough and croup medicine for children because it contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs. The "little colds" of summer as well as the long standing, deep seated coughs, that hang on for months, are banished by its use. The first dose brings relief and comfort. H. P. MRS. W. K. VANDERBILT.

American Woman Visits the Trenches at Verdun.

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt of New York has just returned to Paris from the trenches at the front, and she describes her visit as the "crowning experience" of her life.

Mrs. Vanderbilt is called "the guardian angel of the American ambulance field service," which she has generously aided financially.

She visited Verdun, where she dined with the American ambulance drivers at their mess. She was the first American woman to enter the city since the attack began. The only women there were nurses.

FAMILY DINNERS.

In England They Flourish Mainly at Weddings and Funerals.

Family dinners are rare in England. They flourish only at weddings and at funerals, especially at funerals, for mankind collected enjoys woe. But other occasions—birthdays and Christmas—are shunned. Christmas especially, in spite of Dickens and Mr. Chesterton, is not what it was, for its quondam victims, having fewer children and being less bound to their aunts' apron strings, go away to the seaside or stay at home and hide.

That is a general change, and many modern factors, such as travel, intercourse with strangers, emigration, have shown the family that there are other places than home, until some of them have begun to think that "east or west, home's worst."

There is a frightfulness among the relations in the home, a disinclination to call one's mother-in-law "mother." Indeed, relations-in-law are no longer relatives; the two families do not immediately after the wedding call one another Kitty or Tom. The acquired family is merely a subfamily, and often the grouping resembles that of the Maestragos and the Capulets, if Romeo and Juliet had married. Mrs. Herbert said charmingly in "Garden Out," "Our in-laws are our strained relations."—W. L. George in Harper's Magazine.

SIRIUS AND THE DOG DAYS.

Time Has Worn Away the Link That Bound Them Together.

The dog days, when excessive heat is supposed to prevail, begin July 3, according to the ancient reckoning, and continue to Aug. 11. All sorts of traditions and superstitions are connected with this period, and various dates are also given.

In some sections the dog days are said to begin on July 24 and to end on Aug. 24, while still others attribute the malevolent influence of the dog star upon the earth to the period from Aug. 4 to Sept. 4, in accordance with the ancient Egyptian reckoning.

As a matter of fact, the rising of the dog star, Canis Majoris or Sirius, has nothing to do with the affair at all. The rising of that star has been so accelerated by the procession of the equinoxes during the passage of more than 2,600 years that the corresponding conditions for the ancient dog days no longer exist.

In ancient times in the latitudes of the Mediterranean the period of greatest heat nearly corresponded with that time in which the dog star rose at the same time with the sun. To this conjunction all antiquity and all the later followers of judicial astrology attributed a malignant influence.

Among the modern notions regarding the dog days is the absurd belief that it is during this period that dogs are most likely to go mad.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

GREEKS SHOW WAR SPIRIT

Denounce Bulgar Occupation of Hellenic Territory.

Saloniki, Aug. 28.—A large popular meeting was held here to protest against the occupation of Greek territory by Bulgarians.

It was followed by a demonstration of Venizelos and the singing of the national hymn. The crowd then marched to the headquarters of General Sarrafi, entente commander, and sang the "Marsellaise."

A formal protest against the Bulgarian occupation was drawn and left in the prefect of police.

Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind, is caused by auto-intoxication—which means self poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood, through the lymph ducts, excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable. Your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilide, aspirin or the bromides which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drunk before breakfast for awhile, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar, and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphate hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

Results are quick and it is claimed that those who continue to flush out the stomach, liver and bowels every morning never have any headache or know a miserable moment.

It may buy a bond or a share of stock for a client; but it cannot issue bank notes. What Infantile Paralysis Does to Those Who Escape Death

Here are photographs of actual cases of infantile paralysis showing the distortions it leaves in those who escape death from the dread disease. They were taken at the time the victims were going through exercises to correct the malformations. In New York City there have been 7,423 cases this summer. It has spread to other cities. Already more than a half million dollars has been expended fighting the disease in New York.

HIS GREATEST GAME.

The Climax of Mathewson's Fame as a Baseball Pitcher.

We always have believed that the greatest game that Mathewson ever pitched was the eighth and deciding contest between Boston and New York in the world's series of 1912. He should have shut the Red Sox out in that battle, but his team faltered and broke behind him, and Boston finally won in ten innings by a score of 3 to 2. Matty had been the unanimous choice of his comrades. He felt that it might be the last world's series game he ever would pitch, and he put into his work all the cunning and skill that the years had given him. In those ten innings he gave everything he had, and it was a marvelous exhibition of twirling.

When he entered the box his step was springy and his head held high. He looked almost boyish. When he left the mound after the game it was with bent head and lagging feet, but the Boston crowd stood up in the stands and cheered, not their team, which had just won the world's championship, but the defeated Mathewson.

Hard headed ball players had teased on their cheeks as they ran to Matty to throw their arms across his shoulders, and McGraw hurried across to meet him from the bench, saying: "It wasn't your fault, Matty. You pitched the greatest game I ever saw."—New York World.

LIKE AN ANCIENT FORT.

Mexico's Spiked Mountain a Curious Geological Freak.

One of the most remarkable geological freaks in Mexico is a mountain situated near Pachuca, which presents the appearance at a distance of being covered with spikes. The sides of the mountain are closely studded with stone columns or palisades. These columns are five feet to twelve feet long and as large around as an average man's body.

It is a remarkable uplift of nature, which has the appearance, however, of being the handiwork of human beings. One side of the mountain is almost perpendicular, and the stone columns protrude from the surface at right angles, forming an impressive picture.

Pachuca is one of the most noted mining districts in Mexico, and it is said by geologists that this remarkable spiked mountain is out of keeping with the remainder of the formation of the mineralized region.

The stone is as hard as flint and has withstood the elements for ages. The spikes form a natural battlement that makes the mountain appear from a distance like some ancient fort.

The mines of the Pachuca district are situated not far from this wonderful freak of nature, but the formation encountered in their respective underground workings is of an entirely different kind from that of the palisade.—Pearson's Weekly.

Reconstruction, of course! When the great war is over, shattered Europe must be rebuilt. Mediaeval architecture, crumbled by cannon, will be replaced by well-lighted, well-ventilated, convenient and sanitary buildings of the present day. In this tremendous rebuilding,

Certain-teed Roofing

will play a leading role; for CERTAIN-TEED is the twentieth century answer to the demand for roofing that is economical to buy, easy to lay and inexpensive to maintain.

CERTAIN-TEED Roofing is made in rolls; also in slate-surfaced shingles. There is a type of CERTAIN-TEED for every kind of building, with flat or pitched roof, from the largest sky-scraper down to the smallest residence or out-building.

It makes a clean, sanitary, attractive roof, with a very low cost per year of life. It is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to ply (1, 2 or 3). Experience proves that it outlasts the period of guarantee.

If you are interested in roofs, investigate CERTAIN-TEED before you decide upon the type to buy. You will find CERTAIN-TEED for sale by responsible dealers all over the world.

The long life of CERTAIN-TEED is due to the quality of the roofing felt and the character of the asphalt saturation. This is a blend of soft asphalt prepared by the General's board of expert chemists. The highest quality roofing felt is thoroughly saturated with this soft blend, and is then coated with a blend of harder asphalt, which prevents the drying-out process so destructive to ordinary roofing.

What Infantile Paralysis Does to Those Who Escape Death

Here are photographs of actual cases of infantile paralysis showing the distortions it leaves in those who escape death from the dread disease.

the national banks. Trust companies are under state laws, and are examined and report after the manner of state banks.

The chief distinguishing feature of the trust company is the trust powers above mentioned. It may be the executor of your will. It may be the guardian of your children. You may have your estate left in its care, and it will make the investments, collect the rents, pay the bills and turn the proceeds over to whomsoever you designate. It may certify that in a bond issue, say of one hundred million dollars, only one hundred million dollars in bonds have been issued, thus preventing an over-issue of securities. It may transfer stock for corporations. It may act as the trustee in a mortgage bond issue, and hold the security that protects the bond issue. It had broad, varied and very useful and necessary powers, and has become an indispensable part of our present financial scheme. We could not do business without it.

The chief benefit of the trust company to the individual lies in its power to act as the executor or trustee of estates. If you make your will and name an individual as your executor, he may die before you and another must be named. He may die before your estate is settled and another must take up the work where he lays it down. All sorts of complications are possible.

But the trust company never dies—its life is perpetual. It is surrounded by many legal safeguards. It must invest the money of your estate in certain prescribed securities, whose value is the highest known in investment circles. It has a force of trained men who know how to make investments, keep books and render proper account to the legal authorities and beneficiaries.

The officials are experienced men, whose services command large salaries. It has the machinery to do things right. The fees for these services are usually the same as an individual would be entitled to, and therefore its services are no more costly than private parties would receive with all the attending risk.

A trust company can do all that a bank can do, all that an individual can do, and many things neither can do, all of which functions have played a part in making these institutions not only prominent in the banking world but an invaluable part of our modern civilization. They can serve you well during life; they can serve you better after death. It would be well to call on your local trust company and ascertain how, in your station in life, it can best serve you.

LIKE AN ANCIENT FORT.

Mexico's Spiked Mountain a Curious Geological Freak.

One of the most remarkable geological freaks in Mexico is a mountain situated near Pachuca, which presents the appearance at a distance of being covered with spikes. The sides of the mountain are closely studded with stone columns or pilasters. These columns are five feet to twelve feet long and as large around as an average man's body.

It is a remarkable uplift of nature, which has the appearance, however, of being the handiwork of human beings. One side of the mountain is almost perpendicular, and the stone columns protrude from the surface at right angles, forming an impressive picture.

Pachuca is one of the most noted mining districts in Mexico, and it is said by geologists that this remarkable spiked mountain is out of keeping with the remainder of the formation of the mineralized region.

The stone is as hard as flint and has withstood the elements for ages. The spikes form a natural battlement that makes the mountain appear from a distance like some ancient fort.

The mines of the Pachuca district are situated not far from this wonderful freak of nature, but the formation encountered in their respective underground workings is of an entirely different kind from that of the pilaster.—Pearson's Weekly.

Reconstruction, of course! When the great war is over, shattered Europe must be rebuilt. Mediaeval architecture, crumbled by cannon, will be replaced by well-lighted, well-ventilated, convenient and sanitary buildings of the present day. In this tremendous rebuilding, will play a leading role; for CERTAIN-TEED is the twentieth century answer to the demand for roofing that is economical to buy, easy to lay and inexpensive to maintain.

Certain-teed Roofing

CERTAIN-TEED Roofing is made in rolls; also in slate-surfaced shingles. There is a type of CERTAIN-TEED for every kind of building, with flat or pitched roof, from the largest sky-scraper down to the smallest residence or out-building.

It makes a clean, sanitary, attractive roof, with a very low cost per year of life. It is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to ply (1, 2 or 3). Experience proves that it outlasts the period of guarantee.

If you are interested in roofs, investigate CERTAIN-TEED before you decide upon the type to buy. You will find CERTAIN-TEED for sale by responsible dealers all over the world.

The long life of CERTAIN-TEED is due to the quality of the roofing felt and the character of the asphalt saturation. This is a blend of soft asphalt prepared by the General's board of expert chemists. The highest quality roofing felt is thoroughly saturated with this soft blend, and is then coated with a blend of harder asphalt, which prevents the drying-out process so destructive to ordinary roofing.

FIRST GAS MADE IN BRAINERD TODAY

Machinery Started up at Brainerd Gas & Electric Co. Plant in Presence of Invited Friends of

A. G. WHITNEY, OF ST. CLOUD

Head of Whitney Public Utilities Much Pleased to See the Plant Commence Operations

At the invitation of A. G. Whitney of St. Cloud, head of the Whitney public utilities, the man who made possible a modern gas plant in Brainerd, friends witnessed the starting up of the machinery and the making of the first gas ever manufactured in this city.

The plant of the Brainerd Gas & Electric Co. is situated near the Mississippi bridge and Laurel street. The gas station is a two story brick building 85 feet long and 45 feet wide, two stories in height. In it are located the generator room, compressor room, etc., and attached to it is the coke shed.

At 12:30 o'clock in the presence of President Whitney, D. C. Tenney, vice president of the American Gas Construction Co., H. G. Williams, general superintendent of the gas department, Jerome Spiering, the local superintendent, and these Brainerd citizens, Henry I. Cohen, N. H. Ingersoll, F. A. Farrar, R. R. Wise, R. M. Sheets, M. C. Sheets, J. W. Koop, F. H. Simpson, John A. Hoffbauer, Carl Adams, C. E. Hansing, steam was turned on and the blower started. At 12:55 the compressor started in action.

The making of gas was now under way and by evening the gas lights will be turned on at the office of the Brainerd Gas & Electric Co., 613 Laurel street, in the Citizens State bank building. Tuesday morning the installation of meters will be carried on at homes, restaurants, schools and other places contracting to take gas, following which the mains will be pumped clear of air and the gas turned on.

D. C. Tenney, constructor of the plant, gave a talk on how the gas was manufactured and explained every step of the process. It is known as the Tenney carburated water gas process. The visitors inspected the generator, blower, holder, condenser, two purifying boxes, compressor, the six gas storage tanks, each having a capacity of 10,000 cubic feet at 80 pounds, and the oil tank near by.

BUSH HEAVES NO-HIT GAME

Philadelphia, Aug. 26.—Joe Bush entered the hall of fame for pitchers when he shut out Cleveland and did not allow his opponents a hit today, the score being 5 to 0. Only one of the visiting players reached first base. This was Graney, who, in the first inning, drew a base on balls.

Bush struck seven batters out, eight went out on grounders, eleven were retired on fair flies, and one on a foul fly.

When Graney had fanned, the crowd broke onto the field, to congratulate Bush, and the latter was so excited that he pulled off his cap and joined in the cheering. This was the first no-hit game pitched in a major league contest here in several years. Philadelphia won the game by hitting the delivery of Coveleski hard, he being knocked off the rubber in five innings.

Batteries—Coveleski, Coumbe and O'Neill; Bush and Picinnich.

Appearing in handsome cover, John H. Ley's city directory of Brainerd and the iron range has made its appearance and Vol. IX compares favorably with past years and shows a substantial increase in population in the territory covered.

Coupled with its good appearance is the quiet, trustworthy method of John H. Ley which reduces mistakes to a negligible minimum. His plan of double checking, his wide acquaintance of the country covered, all this contributes to make the Brainerd city directory one of the best offered any municipality.

Advertisers are well represented and purchasers of the books have been many, as Brainerd people appreciated the work of John H. Ley. In his introduction to the volume, Mr. Ley says:

"The publisher takes pleasure in presenting to the public his ninth edition of the Brainerd City Directory with the assurance that nothing could have been added to improve its worth as a work of reference.

"In compiling its four distinct departments, great care was taken to eliminate all errors so commonly found in directories and to keep up the high standard of the 'Ley Publications.'

"The book again includes the directory by street and house number as well as the wife's name, two features which have made our books so popular with all directory users, and which are so rarely found in directories of other publishers."

For comparison, there are presented the population figures of Brainerd and other towns, gained by taking the number of names above the age of 18 years and using the multiple of 2 1/2.

SPEEDWELLS 4, WOODROW GIANTS 3

"Swedie" Erickson and His Team Mates Bump Against a Whirlwind Inning, the Sixth

WHEN SPEEDWELLS SCORED 4

Game Sewed Up Then and There, Novotny of Giants Succeeded by Pitcher "Rich" Bush

"Swedie" Erickson and his cohorts the Cannons and the Coollys and the rest comprising the Woodrow Giants, nearly had the game copped Sunday at Koering field, leading 2 to 0, until the sixth inning when the Speedwells solved Novotny's delivery, ripped into him for two hits and on these and a bunch of errors scored 4 runs and won the game.

True, Novotny was derrickted out and stuck up in left field and "Rich" Bush, brother of the noted Leslie, who had been playing that position, was put on the pitcher's slab and stemmed the tide, but the figures reached were too hard for the Giants to overcome and the victory went to the Speedwells, the final figures reading 4 to 3.

"Swedie" played short and he played like Hans Wagner. While resting in his dugout, he smoked a large calabash pipe and half the crowd thought the place was on fire the way the smoke shot out through the roof. "Swedie" played for 50 feet around his position. He fielded balls near center field, he hopped on second base, he was up near third, he nearly raced to first base when that was threatened.

One thing you can give the Giants credit for. Anything hit up in the air, infield or outfield hit, has from two to three men after it. Any baseman or fielder gets loads of backing.

Bush held the Speedwells down to one hit and struck out three from his part of the sixth inning to the finish. The Speedwells flashed out in true form in their double plays. In the fourth inning Novotny's liner was garnered in by Imgrund at short, tossed to Second Baseman Carlson, who retired Scinto, and whipped to First Baseman McGarry who caught Novotny. In the sixth Bush's liner was fielded by Second Baseman Carlson who tagged the fleeing runner O. Erickson 20 feet from second and then whipped the ball to First Baseman McGarry, catching the runner Bush.

Yes, Woodrow made some errors, but they were quick to retrieve them. For instance, second baseman drops fly ball. Runner on second trying to make third, races back to second, ball is whipped to "Swedie" on second and runner caught. Outfielder falls down, Speedwell runner races around the bases, but ball is whipped to home and catches runner. The only thing that made the Giants dizzy was that fatal sixth when everything you could think of happened to them.

In the third O. Erickson's two-bagger scored F. Cannon and Bush's hit brought in Erickson. In the eighth F. Cannon hit a single, stole second and Bush's hit drove him in.

Hits by Stallman and Clark and errors of second baseman and short brought in four runs, the men crossing the plate being these Speedwells, Peterson, Butke, Stallman and McGarry.

"Cutie" Butke pitched a fairly good game, and whatever hits were made off him, did not militate against him very seriously as fielding of his team mates choked off the runs threatened.

Fred Cook was in the grand stand and he yelled until he got hoarse. It was a novel experience for him, to bowl out the other fellow. The score by innings:

A. G. Whitney of St. Cloud, Host at a Dinner at the Ransford Hotel at 1 O'clock

At 1 o'clock A. G. Whitney, president of the Whitney Utilities, was the host at a dinner at the Ransford Hotel. It was an informal affair and signalized the auspicious day when gas was first supplied the city of Brainerd.

At the head of the table sat Mr. Whitney. The guests included R. R. Wise, F. A. Farrar, N. H. Ingersoll, C. E. Hansing, R. M. Sheets, M. C. Sheets, A. B. Willing, H. G. Williams, Jerome Spiering, J. W. Koop, F. H. Simpson, John A. Hoffbauer, Carl Adams, Henry I. Cohen.

Mayor R. A. Belse was out of the city and so was not able to respond to the invitation to dinner.

As the meal progressed, Mr. Whitney told of his experiences in Brainerd.

"Two years ago in May I asked for a gas franchise in Brainerd," said Mr. Whitney. "Since then it has been steady work and the surmounting of considerable obstacles in the securing of material and supplies to finish the plant. Brainerd now has one of the most modern gas plants in the country."

"Henry I. Lee of Chicago, a gas expert, said it was just a little better than the best he had seen," said Mr. Whitney.

"I want you all to take a look at the lights at the offices of the gas company in the Citizens State bank building this evening. You will find them the best lights Brainerd has ever had."

Sixteen years ago, said Mr. Whitney, he took over the gas plant at St. Cloud, which was then in the receiver's hands. By close application to business, by putting in needed improvements, by giving the best of service, the plant has been put on a good paying basis and it has the good will of the citizens.

"You have capable men in your employ," said Mr. Cohen, as he waved his hand in the direction of Mr. Williams, Mr. Spiering and the others.

"Yes," said Mr. Whitney, "I have not been in Brainerd since June 1. At that time things were in such fine shape that I went home pleased and happy over everything. Since then the boys have worked hard to complete the plant and they have been successful in spite of all obstacles which may have cropped up."

Mr. Whitney motored to Brainerd in the morning, making the trip from St. Cloud to Brainerd in two and a half hours. He praised the good roads.

It is no wonder that operations conducted by Mr. Whitney are successful. He has that idea for detail and that grasp of affairs which spells success, and he stirs up the enthusiasm of all associated with him in his numerous enterprises.

From the generator the gas passes into the carburetor, where oil is jetted on the gas, giving it its illuminating qualities. From there it passes through the super-heater, where the gas is fixed. From there it goes to the wash box and then into the relief holder.

It is then brought back through the purifier to the compressor and pumped into the high pressure storage tank and then distributed through the governor to the street mains.

It enters these mains at a pressure of five pounds and is reduced down to supply gas to the consumer at two and one-half inches.

The gas is of standard quality running from 18 to 20 candle power and has a heating value of 550 British thermal units.

At 1 o'clock A. G. Whitney, president of the Whitney Utilities, was the host at a dinner at the Ransford Hotel. It was an informal affair and signified the auspicious day when gas was first supplied the city of Brainerd.

At the head of the table sat Mr. Whitney. The guests included R. R. Wise, F. A. Farrar, N. H. Ingersoll, C. E. Hansing, R. M. Sheets, M. C. Sheets, A. B. Willing, H. G. Williams, Jerome Spiering, J. W. Koop, F. H. Simpson, John A. Hoffbauer, Carl Adams, Henry I. Cohen.

Mayor R. A. Belse was out of the city and so was not able to respond to the invitation to dinner.

As the meal progressed, Mr. Whitney told of his experiences in Brainerd.

"Two years ago in May I asked for a gas franchise in Brainerd," said Mr. Whitney. "Since then it has been steady work and the surmounting of considerable obstacles in the securing of material and supplies to flesh the plant. Brainerd now has one of the most modern gas plants in the country."

"Henry I. Lee of Chicago, a gas expert, said it was just a little better than the best he had seen," said Mr. Whitney.

"I want you all to take a look at the lights at the offices of the gas company in the Citizens State bank building this evening. You will find them the best lights Brainerd has ever had."

Sixteen years ago, said Mr. Whitney, he took over the gas plant at St. Cloud, which was then in the receiver's hands. By close application to business, by putting in needed improvements, by giving the best of service, the plant has been put on a good paying basis and it has the good will of the citizens.

"You have capable men in your employ," said Mr. Cohen, as he waved his hand in the direction of Mr. Williams, Mr. Spiering and the others.

"Yes," said Mr. Whitney. "I have not been in Brainerd since June 1. At that time things were in such fine shape that I went home pleased and happy over everything. Since then the boys have worked hard to complete the plant and they have been successful in spite of all obstacles which may have cropped up."

Mr. Whitney motored to Brainerd in the morning, making the trip from St. Cloud to Brainerd in two and a half hours. He praised the good roads.

It is no wonder that operations conducted by Mr. Whitney are successful. He has that idea for detail and that grasp of affairs which spells success, and he stirs up the enthusiasm of all associated with him in his numerous enterprises.

D. C. Tenney of American Gas Construction Co., Tells How Gas is Made

D. C. Tenney, vice president of the American Gas Construction Co., explained the process of gas making to the visitors. The gas is what is known as carburated water gas, being the latest thing for towns of 15,000 people.

The blower, which was first started up, gets the heat on the gas generator, which is heated to about 2200 degrees Fahrenheit. The steam is introduced on the body of coke and decomposes the steam into blue water gas.

From the generator the gas passes into the carburetor, where oil is jetted on the gas, giving it its illuminating qualities. From there it passes through the super-heater, where the gas is fixed. From there it goes to the wash box and then into the relief holder.

It is then brought back through the purifier to the compressor and pumped into the high pressure storage tank and then distributed through the governor to the street mains.

It enters these mains at a pressure of five pounds and is reduced down to supply gas to the consumer at two and one-half inches.

The gas is of standard quality running from 18 to 20 candle power and has a heating value of 550 British thermal units.

Pert Caddies.

Harry Vardon, the famous English golf player, says in the Golfers' Magazine that American caddies are as a class more independent than their English cousins. He instances the case of a boy in Florida who, coming to him eagerly in the middle of a round, exclaimed, "Here, hold these clubs for a minute and I'll go and kill that snake for you."

This story is fairly matched, however, by that of a Scotch caddy who on Mr. Vardon's dissenting from his judgment as to a certain shot exclaimed indignantly: "All right. You can have your own way now till the finish. Don't ask me anything else."

NARROW ESCAPE

On Board United States Coast Guard Cutter McCulloch, Bering Sea, Aug. 28, via wireless to Seattle—The power schooner Great Bear, carrying the Arctic expedition headed by John Borden of Chicago and Captain Louis Lane of Seattle, was wrecked on a pinnacle rock in a storm on Bering sea Aug. 10. The vessel was a loss, but the entire party landed safely on St. Matthew's island, where it was found by the McCulloch.

Members of the party aboard the Great Bear were able to land tents and provisions on St. Matthew's island and lived comfortably fifteen days until the McCulloch, which had been sent from Nome to search for the vessel, found them.

Mr. Borden and his entire party were taken aboard the McCulloch, which started back to Nome.

ALL SET FOR MINNESOTA STATE FAIR AUTO RACES.

Fred Horey, Tommy Milton and "Dare Devil" George Clark will push the field hard for final honors at Minnesota State Fair.

FRED HOREY, Tommy Milton and "Dare Devil" George Clark are three of the most noted drivers who are to appear in the auto races at the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 4 to 9. Horey and Milton are St. Paul boys who have been climbing rapidly in the racing game during the last two years. Milton was caught in a thrilling smashup in the auto races at the Minnesota State Fair a year ago, and his car was completely demolished. He escaped without a scratch. The new Briscoe car which is to appear at the Fair is said to be one of the sensations of the racing world, and great things are expected of it.

OLD PARTY STRIFE
TO BE RENEWED

Partisan Politics Will Drive Apathy Out of Trenches.

FIGHT TO BE A REAL ONE

Unlike That of 1912, When Family Quarrel Overshadowed Party Differences, 1916 Will Provide Old Time Struggle, Much to the Delight of Political Leaders.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—There will be partisanship enough before this campaign is over. Never forget about "General Apathy" holding away all the time.

There is plenty of evidence that, notwithstanding the differences between the parties are not much in the line of the fact that a man calls himself a Republican or another calls himself a Democrat remains, and the men with different party names know there is a mighty difference.

They are going to drive "General Apathy" off the field and take possession, giving the country an exhibition of the old party strife that is dear to the hearts of the politicians. The men who are Republicans and the men who are Democrats are going to make a campaign of it, and they are going to have a real fight.

Differs From Four Years Ago.

Four years ago the Democrats and Republicans were not fighting each other. Then the two factions of the Republican party hated each other with such fervency as to make their feeling toward the ancient enemy comparatively mild and almost lamblike. We all remember that campaign. It was like that when families fall out—the various factions are more bitter against each other than they are against former foes.

And that brings up another idea: Do families which have had a feud within their own households ever fully unite? Are parties different from families in this respect?

Dangling a Hope.

Various criticisms of the Philippine bill were made by Republicans in both houses, particularly against the preamble which promised independence in the future. But it took two Democratic senators to make telling remarks on the subject. Said Lane of Oregon: "The preamble is said to hold out hope of self government and liberty. It sort of dangles it before their eyes and then grabs it back before they can get hold of it."

Vardaman of Mississippi put his criticism in the form of a question: "Does not the senator understand that the rights of the Filipinos are so restricted, so circumscribed, that really it is a mere phreum or make believe which has been accorded them; that they are given no substantial right of self government?"

And yet when the final vote was taken Democrats and Republicans alike voted for the bill.

Danish West Indies.

The proposed acquisition of the Danish West Indies is not a party matter. The most earnest advocates of the treaty are found on the Republican side. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts has always insisted that the islands should be acquired. He has generally supported other measures of expansion, such as acquisition of the Philippines, Hawaii, the canal zone, footholds in Central America and the Caribbean. At present both parties are divided upon the advisability of acquiring the Danish West Indies.

Under British Guns.

Possibly it was because Senator Lane was disappointed when the conference on the naval bill dropped out a provision for a naval station in Oregon, but when the bill was finally approved he made this observation:

"The conferees have approved an item carrying $2,000,000 for the improvement of a certain navy yard for the building of a large type of battleship, and yet such ships cannot get in or out of the harbor without going under the guns of a foreign nation."

He referred to the great English fortification at Esquimalt, on Vancouver island, which guards the entrance to Puget sound.

"Watchful Waiting."

In telling the house that members could take a two weeks' vacation Leader Kitchin remarked: "Of course some of us will have to remain here and watch the other side. I shall have to stay here and watch the minority leader, and he will have to stay here and watch me."

Slides and Defense.

In supporting the large naval bill Congressman Stephens of Texas gave as his reasons: "The recent slides which have put the Panama canal out of commission," he said, "indicates that we should have a navy in both oceans to properly maintain the Monroe doctrine and protect the cities on both oceans."

Bold Senator Sherman.

It does not often happen that any man is willing to tackle and denounce such a powerful labor leader as Samuel Gompers, but Senator Sherman of Illinois went straight after the head of the great labor federation. "Bold Larry Sherman," some one called him.

Saved by a Dream.

A farmer living at Lapford, England, dreamed three in succession that he saw a pit dug in one of his fields and some of his property cast into it. At the third time of dreaming he got up, dressed and went out. He heard the thud of a spade and caught sight of a man digging by lantern light. The digger fled at his approach. It was a grave upon which he had been at work. By its brink lay a huge knife. On his way back the farmer met one of his maid-servants. She had had a quarrel with the man to whom she had been engaged, she said, but he had prevailed upon her to meet him for the last time at 2 o'clock that morning, when he had something to show her. "This is what he had to show you," said the farmer, leading her to the grave.—London Tatler.

Pretty Poor Pilot.

"I was out with Umson in his automobile the other evening," said the fat plumber to his friend the thin carpenter.

"Didn't know he had one."

"Yes, he bought one secondhand."

"Did you have a good ride?"

"I nearly lost a year's growth."

"Speed fiend?"

"No, but he can't guide the thing straight."

"Poor at the wheel, eh?"

"Poor at the wheel? Why, man alive, Umson couldn't steer a street car."

Exchange.

A Small Point.

Barrister's Wife—So your client was acquitted of murder. On what grounds? Barrister—Insanity. We proved that his father once spent two years in an asylum. Barrister's Wife—But he didn't, did he? Barrister—Yes. He was doctor there, but we had not time to bring that fact out.—London Tit-Bits.

Elsewhere.

"Do you ever take a day off and go fishing?"

"Yes. But the fish always seem to take the same day off that I do."—Washington Star.

ROOSEVELT BLAMED
FOR WEAK U. S. NAVY

Washington, Aug. 28.—A review of what the Wilson administration has done for the navy is given in a long letter from Secretary Daniels to Representative William Elmer Williams, Democrat of Illinois, made public by the navy department.

As to how and when the navy lost rank among the greater fleets of the world, the secretary quotes the general board as saying that, based on displacement of ships built, the United States advanced to second place in 1907 and lost it to Germany in 1911.

The way had been paved in 1905, he says when President Roosevelt and Secretary Bonaparte recommended the construction of one capital ship. He directs attention to the fact that in 1903 and thereafter the general board recommended three battleships and says the reports always were placarded until he gave them to the public by attaching them to his report.

MILWAUKEE FIRE CLAIMSTWO

Two Firemen Killed and Four Injured in Destructive Blaze.

Milwaukee, Aug. 28.—Two firemen were killed and four injured in combating a fire that did damage estimated at from $125,000 to $150,000 at the plant of the Waltham Piano Manufacturing company.

One of them, Lieutenant Dennis Moroney, was suffocated while trying to locate the blaze in a smoke-charged room. The other, Captain Arnt Nessheim, gave his life in an attempt to save his comrade.

Pert Caddies.

Harry Vardon, the famous English golf player, says in the Golfers' Magazine that American caddies are as a class more independent than their English cousins. He instances the case of a boy in Florida who, coming to him eagerly in the middle of a round, exclaimed, "Here, hold these clubs for a minute and I'll go and kill that snake for you."

This story is fairly matched, however, by that of a Scotch caddy who on Mr. Vardon's dissenting from his judgment as to a certain shot exclaimed indignantly: "All right. You can have your own way now till the finish. Don't ask me anything else."

The vessel was a loss, but the entire party landed safely on St. Matthew's island, where it was found by the McCulloch.

Members of the party aboard the Great Bear were able to land tents and provisions on St. Matthew's island and lived comfortably fifteen days until the McCulloch, which had been sent from Nome to search for the vessel, found them.

OLD PARTY STRIFE TO BE RENEWED

Partisan Politics Will Drive Apathy Out of Trenches.

FIGHT TO BE A REAL ONE

Unlike That of 1912, When Family Quarrel Overshadowed Party Differences, 1916 Will Provide Old Time Struggle, Much to the Delight of Political Leaders.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—There will be partisanship enough before this campaign is over. Never fear about "General Apathy" holding sway all the time.

There is plenty of evidence that, notwithstanding the differences between the parties are not much in the limelight, the fact that a man calls himself a Republican or another calls himself a Democrat remains, and the men with different party names know there is a mighty difference.

They are going to drive "General Apathy" off the field and take possession, giving the country an exhibition of the old party strife that is dear to the hearts of the politicians. The men who are Republicans and the men who are Democrats are going to make a campaign of it, and they are going to have a real fight.

Differs From Four Years Ago.

Four years ago the Democrats and Republicans were not fighting each other. Then the two factions of the Republican party hated each other with such fervency as to make their feeling toward the ancient enemy comparatively mild and almost lambl-like. We all remember that campaign. It was like that when families fall out—the various factions are more bitter against each other than they are against former foes.

And that brings up another idea: Do families which have had a feud within their own households ever fully unite? Are parties different from families in this respect?

Dangling a Hope.

Various criticisms of the Philippine bill were made by Republicans in both houses, particularly against the preamble, which promised independence in the future. But it took two Democratic senators to make telling remarks on the subject. Said Lane of Oregon: "The preamble is said to hold out hope of self government and liberty. It sort of dangles it before their eyes and then grabs it back before they can get hold of it."

Vardaman of Mississippi put his criticism in the form of a question: "Does not the senator understand that the rights of the Filipinos are so restricted, so circumscribed, that really it is a mere plaything or make believe which has been accorded them; that they are given no substantial right of self government?"

And yet when the final vote was taken Democrats and Republicans alike voted for the bill.

Danish West Indies.

The proposed acquisition of the Danish West Indies is not a party matter. The most earnest advocates of the treaty are found on the Republican side. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts has always insisted that the islands should be acquired. He has generally supported other measures of expansion, such as acquisition of the Philippines, Hawaii, the canal zone, footholds in Central America and the Caribbean. At present both parties are divided upon the advisability of acquiring the Danish West Indies.

Under British Guns.

Possibly it was because Senator Lane was disappointed when the conference on the naval bill dropped out a provision for a naval station in Oregon, but when the bill was finally approved he made this observation:

"The conference have approved an item carrying $2,000,000 for the improvement of a certain navy yard for the building of a large type of battleship, and yet such ships cannot get in or out of the harbor without going under the guns of a foreign nation."

He referred to the great English fortification at Esquimaux, on Vancouver island, which guards the entrance to Puget sound.

"Watchful Waiting."

In telling the house that members could take a two weeks' vacation Leader Kitchin remarked: "Of course some of us will have to remain here and watch the other side. I shall have to stay here and watch the minority leader, and he will have to stay here and watch me."

Stones and Defenses.

In supporting the large naval bill Congressman Stephens of Texas gave as his reasons: "The recent slides which have put the Panama canal out of commission," he said, "indicates that we should have a navy in both oceans to properly maintain the Monroe doctrine and protect the cities on both oceans."

Bold Senator Sherman.

It does not often happen that any man is willing to tackle and denounce such a powerful labor leader as Samuel Gompers, but Senator Sherman of Illinois went straight after the head of the great labor federation. "Bold Larry Sherman," some one called him.

Saved by a Dream.

A farmer living at Lapford, England, dreamed thrice in succession that he saw a pit dug in one of his fields and some of his property cast into it. At the third time of dreaming he got up, dressed and went out. He heard the thud of a spade and caught sight of a man digging by lantern light. The digger fled at his approach. It was a grave upon which he had been at work. By its brink lay a huge knife. On his way back the farmer met one of his maidservants. She had a quarrel with the man to whom she had been engaged, she said, but he had prevailed upon her to meet him for the last time at 2 o'clock that morning, when he had something to show her. "This is what he had to show you," said the farmer, leading her to the grave.—London Tatler.

Pretty Poor Pilot.

"I was out with Umson in his automobile the other evening," said the fat plumber to his friend the thin carpenter.

"Didn't know he had one."

"Yes; he bought one secondhand."

"Did you have a good ride?"

"I nearly lost a year's growth."

"Speed find?"

"No, but he can't guide the thing straight."

"Poor at the wheel, eh?"

"Poor at the wheel? Why, man alive, Umson couldn't steer a street car."

Exchange.

A Small Point.

Barrister's Wife—So your client was acquitted of murder. On what grounds? Barrister—Insanity. We proved that his father once spent two years in an asylum. Barrister's Wife—But he didn't, did he? Barrister—Yes. He was doctor there, but we had not time to bring that fact out.—London Tit-Bits.

"Do you ever take a day off and go fishing?"

"Yes. But the fish always seem to take the same day off that I do."—Washington Star.

ROOSVELT BLAMED FOR WEAK U. S. NAVY

Washington, Aug. 28.—A review of what the Wilson administration has done for the navy is given in a long letter from Secretary Daniels to Representative William Elmer Williams, Democrat of Illinois, made public by the navy department.

As to how and when the navy lost rank among the greater fleets of the world, the secretary quotes the general board as saying that, based on displacement of ships built, the United States advanced to second place in 1907 and lost it to Germany in 1911.

The way had been paved in 1905, he says, when President Roosevelt and Secretary Bonaparte recommended the construction of one capital ship. He directs attention to the fact that in 1903 and thereafter the general board recommended three battleships and says the reports always were postponed until he gave them to the public by attaching them to his report.

New Way to Tell Time.

Jones—I say, Smith, you are a good hand at arithmetic?

Smith—Yes; I am considered very good. Why?

Jones—Well, here is a little problem for you: There was a man named Little, in Dublin, who had a daughter. Now, she was in love with a chap she knew her father did not approve of, so one day she eloped with him. When the old man found out he was very angry, and at once followed them. Now, then, what time was it?

Smith (angrily)—What time was it? How on earth do you suppose I can tell you? I give it up.

Jones (triumphantly)—Why, a little after two, of course.

On the Contrary.

"Not a bit. It's the coming down that really tests a man's nerve."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.
